PREFACE:

This story is in English language for the convenience of audience. It's a story of passengers and a Ticket man who were travelling in a train from Kurnool to Ooty in Vishal express. Their 15 hours journey had their best experience in the darkest Forest area of India. It's a raw story which doesn't have any emotions to carry just a seat-edge thriller. They don't know what they are fighting with but they are fighting hard for their lives. They need to be alive to see the morning. All the characters are fictional. I need to give a cinematic experience to my readers while reading this story... Hope I will come up with lots of surprise with your support...Try to read it slowly as it is Thriller story in English language.
